Short biography:
Gray has spent most of his life involved in different kinds of lay ministries and social service activities. Some of these include being a volunteer with the Peace Corps, lay leader with an inner city church in Atlanta, coordinator of volunteers and construction for an inner city housing program, visitor with prisoners throughout the state of Georgia, member of a nonviolent faith based presence in wartime Nicaragua, and mental health counselor. In later life he became pastor of two small United Church of Christ congregations. He is now semi-retired, lives in Concord, and keeps as many perennials going through the summer as possible.

Presentation Description:
Title: Being Humbled by a Black–eyed Susan– The sermon/message is based on a simple black–eyed Susan taking charge and teaching about the wonder, awe, and magnificence of God’s creation. The message then moves toward concern for the health of the creation due to climate change and concludes with the belief that one of the ways we love God is through loving the planet, God’s creation.
